

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

EUA Announces Growth in Leadership Team

MILWAUKEE, WI, September 9th, 2020 — John Chapman will be joining EUA's Board of Directors as Vice President (VP), augmenting the firm's leadership team of Board Officers including Greg Uhen, CEO; Rich Tennessen, President; and Kristin Dufek, Vice President.

With this transition EUA is bolstering the leadership team to support the firm's growth; strengthening their outlook and ability to undertake necessary and innovative firm-wide initiatives. "I welcome John's partnership in leading the firm, he's great at building meaningful relationships with clients and partners and I look forward to how he will influence the trajectory of EUA," said Kristin Dufek, VP.

This will be an evolution and expansion of responsibilities for John, he will retain his Madison Studio Director role while leading firm-wide strategic initiatives and providing executive committee counsel. When John rejoined EUA as Madison Studio Director in 2019, he relocated and planted his roots in Madison, but is not new to the market, having previously lived in Madison for nine years. Since taking on this role, he has embraced EUA's Madison studio culture, the local community, and EUA's commitment to delivering quality service. When asked about the promotion, Chapman said "It's rewarding to be part of an environment surrounded by talented and hardworking people who have a passion for inspirational design, which supports people to perform at their best."

John has spent a cumulative 14 years of his career dedicated to helping EUA strategically expand and grow. He exemplifies professionalism, design expertise and leadership; and is a key contributor to projects across multiple markets, assisting with the firm's mission of elevating people's potential.

Rich Tennessen, EUA President shared, "At EUA we are committed to providing great architectural design; John has a proven track record in this area and in the role of Vice President he will have greater influence on our firm's level of design. He also has a great business acumen; I look forward to the impact he will make across EUA's markets in not only his current Madison leadership position but also in this enhanced role."
